End of an Era

LAST RUN.—When Clifford Graves, 67, put his engine in the Wheeling, W. Va., roundhouse Saturday night he completed his last day's work after 46 years' service. Graves piloted the 3:15 P. M. train through Washington C. H. on its last trip Saturday. (Wilmington News-Journal photo)

CHILDREN who may never again have a chance to ride trains out of Washington C. H. made up a large part of the crowd out to ride the last train Saturday. Here, Timothy Sewell, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Sewell of Martinsville, and Karen Friend, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Friend, Clarksburg, wait impatiently for the late train. ## Last Passenger Trains Get Nostalgic Sendoff

An era ended in Washington C. H. Saturday as the doors clanged shut on the last regular passenger train.

Shortly after 4:20 p. m., the conductor shouted "All Board!" and the Baltimore & Ohio's "No. 238," to Cincinnati, wheeled down the track, its whistle playing its mournful swan song.

With the passing of 238, the 104-year-old history of passenger railroading here ended.

Less than an hour before 238 pulled out for the last time, its partner, No. 233, had left on its last scheduled trip to Wheeling, W. Va.

Mourners aplenty were on hand

19 Injured As Flyer Hits Iron on Track

CARROLLTON, Mo. (AP)—The Santa Fe's San Francisco Chief struck an iron bar and careened off the tracks at the edge of Carrollton last night, injuring at least 19 of the 200 passengers.

Two of the four diesel locomotive units overturned. All 13 cars were derailed, some tumbling to a stop at angles, to the town-up tracks.

An oil fire in the locomotive was put out quickly by Carrollton firemen. Townspeople swarmed to the scene to help the passengers.

Nineteen injured were admitted to three Carrollton hospitals, where attendants said one was in critical condition. Mrs. Nellie Sayre, 63, of Akron, Ohio, had a skull fracture, a hospital reported. Many were given only first aid.

About 50 passengers were given shelter in the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall as a thunderstorm broke over the area shortly after the wreck. Others were taken into private homes pending the arrival of a rescue train to take them to Kansas City, 65 miles south.

BETTER THAN EVER.—Business was hardly ever as good on the railroad here as it was Saturday when the last two trains serving Washington C. H. made their last trips. Conductor Howard Steele, above, is collecting tickets on the final train to Cincinnati. (Record-Herald photo)

IMPROMPTU ENTERTAINMENT helped make the passing of passenger service a happy occasion. When the final train to Cincinnati failed to come in on time Saturday, Elmer Crum (left), Sabina, casually hopped onto a baggage wagon and kept the throng of railroad fans entertained with bird calls. ## Ike Continues Panama Talks

President's Comment On His Health Eyed

PANAMA (AP)—President Eisenhower participates in final talks with fellow American presidents today in the wake of the Pan-American Conference at which he urged hemisphere unity in advancing human welfare.

Still convalescing from his June 9 intestinal operation, he has appeared tired at times, but seems to relish the proceedings.

Reporters overheard Eisenhower remark shortly after he arrived Saturday that "I haven't much strength, but I keep going."

The parley, which commemorates the first Pan-American Conference called 130 years ago by Simon Bolivar, the South American liberator, ended yesterday. It closed in an historic setting with the signing of a declaration of principles and 3½ hours of speeches.

Eisenhower took only nine minutes for his address. He made one major point: the Americas already have put together a mechanism for meeting aggression or affairs, so "let us join to find ways which will enable our peoples to combat the ravages of disease, poverty and ignorance."

HE NAMED his brother Milton as U. S. representative on the proposed new commission.

Eisenhower's remarks about his personal health stirred dominating interest. Back home, comments removed any remaining doubts on whether subject will be a 1956 campaign issue.

Eisenhower made the remark during a wreath-laying ceremony and appeared to tire in the sweltering heat of a long program.

Chicago Warned: Get Polio Shots

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicagoans have been warned that the city's polio rate, highest in the nation, may rise to epidemic proportions if children are not immediately inoculated with Salk vaccine.

This year, 268 polio cases and five deaths have been reported in Chicago. At this time in 1955, there were only 2 cases.

Stored Wheat Tax Fight Backed by Farm Bureau

The Fayette County Farm Bureau today was committed to carry the fight against the personal property tax on grain held in storage under government loan to the state Supreme Court if necessary.

The Farm Bureau directors, at their Saturday night meeting, approved a resolution to carry on the appeal made by Attorney Ray R. Maddox last spring and appropriated the funds necessary to do it.

Fayette County has been the center of the tug-of-war between the farmers and the state Tax Commission for nearly two years.

Maddox said that although his tax amounted to less than $100, he felt "so deeply" the injustice of the tax that he had decided to challenge the state Tax Commission's ruling "as a matter of principle and on behalf of the hundreds of wheat growers throughout Ohio."

Clarence Cooper, general manager of the Farm Bureau Cooperative Assn., expressed similar sentiments, both personal and on behalf of the Farm Bureau members and directors of the organization.

Maddox emphasized that "it was not for myself that I decided to appeal to the commission. . . it was for all the farmers in Ohio." Maddox has a farm on the CCC Highway about 3 miles east of Washington C. H.

COUNTY Treasurer Charles A. Fabb first went to bat for the farmers more than a year ago when a representative of the Tax Commission came here and announced that the personal property

Man Bites Dog; Dog Bites Back

PATERSON, N. J. (AP)—How about when a man bites a dog and the dog bites him right back?

It happened to James McNamara. He was frolicking on the floor with his cocker spaniel named Bum and accidentally bit the pooch on the ear.

Bum turned around and bit McNamara over the right eye. McNamara had the wound cauterized and got tetanus injections at a local hospital. But Bum required no medical attention.

Midway Springs Up over Weekend Fair Taking Shape

This is Fair Week again in Fayette County.

Although the judging and the harness horse racing will not get under way until Wednesday, the 47-acre Fairground was a teeming, gaudy scene by mid-day Monday.

During the weekend, the colorful midway, with its rides, shows and concessions, sprang up as if by magic. The ferris wheel, always a sort of beacon over the fun area of the Fairground, towered into the air above all the rest.

Tents dotted the ground, which two days ago had been empty and deserted. Trailers of all hues, shapes and sizes were parked just off the driveways. Alongside many of them, hung the wash, giving this nomadic colony a homelike appearance.

Scores of brightly painted pieces of farm machinery and equipment were being put in place behind the main drive behind the grandstand and the Merchants Building. . . and there was still much more to come.

MEN, WOMEN and children were scurrying around all over the place trying to bring some sort of order out of what appeared to be chaos.

Meanwhile, through the gates streamed an endless procession of trucks, large and small, and automobiles. They were all bringing something to the Fair — and there seemed to be no place to put them.

Back "on the hill" where the livestock is placed, it was a beehive of activity. Some cattle, swine and sheep were already there, but the most was yet to come.

Early Monday, horses had gone around and around as their trainers got them in shape for the four days of racing. But, by noon, things had settled down around the barns. A few horses were still going in the endless circles of the cooling-out process, and the trainers and most of the grooms sat on bales of hay in the shade and talked about their prospects in the races that start Wednesday.

THE FIRST of the exhibits were being put in place in the Merchants Building, under the grandstand and in tents.

Pungent odors of cooking food drifted across the grounds from the eating places that dotted the Fairground; for, there were a lot of people there "settling up" and they had to have a place to eat close to the ground.

The secretary's office back of the grandstand was open — and a busy place it was, with exhibitors and concessionaires coming and going to get their assignments of locations.

About the only calm place was the grandstand in front of the race-track. But, it won't be that way after Tuesday night when Kochman's Hell Drivers open the four-day extravaganza with a smashing (literally) auto thrill show.

The Newcomers Club will sponsor a polo booth at the Fair this year with Mrs. Robert Anderson in charge. Pamphlets and other information on polo will be available.

The amazing part of the whole scrambled picture is that Tuesday is the day set aside for setting up the exhibits of everything from dainty needlework to plodding fat beef cattle.

There did not seem to be much space left for those who will come Tuesday, but it has been like that before and somehow it always has been crowded in to make the Fair what it is.

Civil Rights Bill Awaits Senate's Axe

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House today passed the hard-fought Civil Rights bill, sending it to almost a certain death in the Senate. The House roll call vote on passage was 279-126.

Both Republican and northern Democratic supporters of the bill, which would strengthen the government's arm in dealing with violation of voting and other rights, have said they expect political advantage from today's vote.

But Southerners who used all available weapons against the bill contended they had achieved their purpose—fatal delay.

There is little chance the bill can get far in the Senate, which is trying hard for adjournment this week.

If the measure gets to the Senate floor, it would head inevitably into a southern filibuster.

Woman Pokes Cop, Gets Fine of $10

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Mary Torland, pert brunette typist who smote a cop who arrested her for jaywalking, got off with a $10 fine and a warning.

Mrs. Torland was hurrying home to dinner when she bopped the policeman. Later she hurled a vial of ammonia at another policeman in the paddy wagon.

Judge Edward O'Day fined her $10 for jaywalking and gave her a 15-day suspended sentence for using obscene language.

Mishaps Kill 16

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio's toll of weekend accidental deaths, according to a survey from 6 p. m. Friday to last midnight, showed 16 persons lost their lives, nine in traffic mishaps.

World News in Brief

Mystery Object Damages Airplane

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)—The mystery of what hit an Air Force plane at 16,000 feet, apparently something that struck from above, is under probe.

One of four crewmen was slightly injured in the strange accident yesterday. The Air Force gave this account:

The C131D twin-engine Convair was en route from San Francisco to San Antonio, Tex. The accident occurred at 16,000 feet over Pixley, Calif., in clear weather about 11 a. m.

Suddenly there was a loud bang. The aircraft shuddered and went into a vertical dive. It pulled out at about 7,000 feet. The pilot shut off power, feathered one engine and landed at Kern County Airport here.

Examination later showed that five-eighths of the left elevator control surface, part of the tail assembly, was gone or smashed.

"It looked like something struck from above," an Air Force spokesman said, adding that as far as could be determined no other aircraft was involved.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The United Steelworkers union has accepted an industry proposal to resume contract talks in New York tomorrow in an effort to end the 23-day-old steel strike.

BOMBAY, India (AP)—Indian authorities speeded relief measures today for the quake-shattered coastal town of Anjar, where at least 117 persons perished over the weekend.

The quake hit late Saturday, jolting towns and villages over a 500-mile stretch from Bombay to the Pakistan border. It was India's worst shock in six years.

COLUMBUS — Two trainmen were hurt, neither seriously, when 21 cars of a 40-car Pennsylvania Railroad freight train derailed just north of here early today. Damage to the eastbound, Richmond, Ind., to Columbus train and property was estimated unofficially at about $60,000.

NEWARK — Ruth Schwenley, 18, of Chatfield, is Miss Majorette of Ohio. The Crawford County girl was selected for the title yesterday at a regional Miss Majorette contest at nearby Buckeye Lake. Two hundred girls were entered in judging.

COLUMBUS — Services will be held here Wednesday for Mrs. Albie Dustin Willis, 82, of Delaware, widow of the late U. S. Sen. Frank B. Willis of Ohio.

KALIMPONG, India — Returning travelers told today of a new series of revolts in Tibet against Communist Chinese. They said an

Couple with Binoculars Sees Sun Bather Fatally Beaten

CHICAGO (AP)—A scientist and his wife, whose diversion is scanning Lake Michigan with binoculars, told police they watched horrified from their 15th-floor apartment as a brawny, bare-chested man beat a woman sun bather to death yesterday.

The woman's body was found minutes after Arthur Kirk Besley, 52, and his wife, Adrian, 47, rushed out of their North Side apartment building and directed a motorcycle policeman to the scene. The area of the slaying is at the tip of Lincoln Park.

The victim was not identified immediately. Police said she was about 35.

The killer escaped before the besleys and the policeman reached the scene.

Besley told this story: "I was watching the sail boats on the lake through my opera glasses about 4 p. m. when I noticed a woman sitting alone in an area generally unfrequented by sun bathers."

"My curiosity was aroused because of this and I watched her steadily for a few moments. Then I noticed a man, bare-chested and carrying a white shirt over his arm. He apparently was sneaking up on her through a dense undergrowth in the area."

"I CALLED my wife and she looked. We both decided it must be a game of some sort."

"Even when the guy threw his shirt over her head and dragged her off a rock into a clump of bushes, I wasn't astonished. I still believed this couple was playing a game of hide and seek."

"But when the man started hitting her, driving his arm into her again and again, we knew it wasn't play and we rushed out to locate a policeman."

"We didn't know the procedure for telephoning police, but we knew a motorcycle policeman was patrolling the area. We found him immediately and directed him to the scene."

Besley is a doctor of philosophy and superintendent at Norwegian American Hospital.

A copy of the book "Ben Hur" was found near the victim's body.

A bookmark contained a short prayer entitled "Prayer for a Happy Death" and the inscription: "To Margaret from brother Demian—Xmas 1953."

Another report meeting will be held at the Hotel Washington at 7:30 P. M. Wednesday. According to terms of a signed agreement between the C. of C. and the Pennington firm, Thursday will be the campaign deadline.

Pennington officials accepted the C. of C. financial aid offer after pointing out that the $50,000 would balance off a four-year saving in distribution costs which the firm could effect by transferring its operations to Columbus where a suitable building is available.

Less than an hour before 238 pulled out for the last time, its partner, No. 233, had left on its last scheduled trip to Wheeling, W. Va.

Mourners aplenty were on hand to pay their final respects to the railroad. The throng at the station included elderly men who could remember railroading at its zenith and little children who possibly never again will have the opportunity to board a passenger train here.

MANY CHOSE to ride the train on its final day, but many others preferred to stay in the station and watch the two go through. Several hundred were on the platform when 238 pulled out, and a couple of hundred were aboard the coaches. Some of the friends of the railroad had driven to Sabina or Wilmington earlier in the day to ride the eastbound into town.

Aboard the cab of the eastbound train as it hove into Washington C. H. was Carl Meriweather, 339 Oak St., who had ridden with the engineer all the way from Cincinnati. Meriweather, along with Robert Schneider, 335 E. Court St., who had ridden the cab down the day before, had received special permission from B&O authorities to take their trip.

For the engineers on both 233 and 238, the day was especially memorable. Both men were retiring after the trip, at the completion of long terms of service.

Clifford C. Graves, 67, was piloting 233 Saturday for his final run after 46 years' service. Graves had been on the same route since 1949. Earl McCoy, 69, who celebrated his 50th anniversary in railroading June 12, was running 238. Both men were ending their service to the railroad at the same time the railroad was ending its service to Washington C. H.

A FAYETTE COUNTY man was one of the crew members on 233 as it came east on the last day. W. W. Handley, New Martinsburg, who has been flagman on the train for several years, was set to move to the main line after the trip. Mrs. Handley was a passenger on the train.

About 50 passengers were given shelter in the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall as a thunderstorm broke over the area shortly after the wreck. Others were taken into private homes pending the arrival of a rescue train to take them to Kansas City, 65 miles south.

COUNTY Treasurer Charles A. Fabb first went to bat for the farmers more than a year ago when a representative of the Tax Commission came here and announced that the personal property tax had not been paid by many wheat growers.

He backed up the late Ulric Acton, who had contended that the wheat in storage was not subject to the personal property tax. Before his death, he explained (in a letter to the state Tax Commission, too) that he and the farmers considered the government loan as a sale, inasmuch as the farmers had paid an income tax on the money received.

Fabb said he had tax bills made out for the tax covering the years of 1952, 1953 and 1954, in accordance with instructions from the Tax Commission, but was holding them up at least temporarily.

Prosecutor John Bath also supported the position taken here in protest against the tax in a letter to Fabb.

About three months ago, Maddox started the ball rolling when he, Charles S. Hire, his law partner, (Please turn to page two)

Deadline Nears

Final 'Push' Readied in Bakery Drive

The "big push" in a community-wide campaign to keep Pennington Bread Inc.'s big commercial bakery operation in Washington C. H. will be launched Monday night when drive workers will be guests of the Hotel Washington Coffee Shop at a 6:30 dinner meeting.

Between 50 and 60 persons are expected to attend the dinner which will mark the final effort in an appeal for $30,000 which, along with $20,000 in the Chamber of Commerce Industrial Development Fund, will be offered as financial assistance to the Pennington Corp. whose plant here was destroyed by fire six weeks ago.

Morgan B. Pennington, president of the firm, has agreed to concentrate his entire baking operation in a new expanded plant in Washington C. H. if the financial drive is successful.

Mac Dews, chairman of a special Chamber of Commerce committee which has charge of the financial assistance campaign, said Monday morning that "Tonight's meeting will touch off the most important part of this entire effort. The last $8,000 will be the hardest to raise."

DEWS ANNOUNCED Saturday that campaign workers already have collected $20,200 toward the $30,000 goal. A new tabulation will be ready for tonight's meeting when a report will be made on the progress of the drive to date, and members of 10 teams will start canvassing a final list of approximately 150 prospects.

Another report meeting will be held at the Hotel Washington at 7:30 P. M. Wednesday. According to terms of a signed agreement between the C. of C. and the Pennington firm, Thursday will be the campaign deadline.

16 Nabbed Here Over Weekend

One Drunk Driver Is Among Them

One drunk driver and numerous other traffic law violators were scheduled to appear in Municipal Court Monday but several, chiefly those picked up for excessive speed, failed to appear for hearing and thus forfeited their bonds.

The drunk driver was George Morris, city, who was fined $200 and costs, given 10 days in jail with seven suspended. His driving rights also were suspended for one year, except driving to and from work.

Other cases were: Elizabeth Arnold, Columbus, forfeited $10 bond for too much speed; Henry Werner, Canton, for driving too close to another vehicle, drew $10 and costs;

Robert F. Stroppe, city, was fined $5 and costs for running a stop sign; fine suspended;

Lyman Archer, Columbus, reckless operation, $120 bond forfeited; Gerald Beck Beckler, Columbus, for 53 miles, Columbus Ave., forfeited $30 bond;

Howard Rause, Columbus, bond of $20 forfeited on charge of driving 46 miles an hour in city;

Roy S. Ross, Columbus, forfeited $15 bond on charge of driving 45 miles an hour on Columbus Ave.;

George Devore, Galena, forfeited $15 for driving 44 miles an hour on Columbus Ave.;

Elsa Parker, Ardina, driving 49 miles on Columbus Ave., forfeited $20 bond;

Wheat Tax Fight

Fabb and Willard Perrill appeared before a board of review of the Tax Commission. At that time Maddox stated his case to the board, but that did not change matters—the Tax Commission advised him that the tax still stood.

Now the next step, Maddox said, is to present the case to the Board of Tax Appeals. He said he decided to take this step "as a matter of principal and on behalf of all the wheat farmers in the state."

While the Farm Bureau had been lending moral support, it was not until this step was decided on that the directors adopted the resolution to back it financially. It was made plain that this backing would "go to the Supreme Court if necessary."

The Farm Bureau has retained Attorney John King of Columbus to represent it in the case.

Problem Lad Recaptured in Jail's Attic

A 14-year-old deaf mute boy who has been imprisoned in the women's department of the Fayette County Jail for 36 days because the great State of Ohio can not find a place for him in any of its numerous correctional institutions, dug out of his quarters and was prowling around in the attic of the building when discovered and locked in a cell Saturday night.

The boy, who has been a police problem since he was 5 years old, and whose last escapades were a series of burglaries and theft of a pick-up truck and automobile, has been held in jail here while Juvenile Court Judge Robert L. Brubaker has been trying vainly to have the state take him in charge for correction.

The boy Saturday night broke off a section of a drain pipe and used it as an instrument for digging through the plastering of a wall into the attic. He finally completed a hole large enough to permit him to crawl through into the attic.

Timely discovery prevented his escape from the prison.

MONDAY Judge Brubaker announced that in all probability mandamus proceedings would be filed in one of the courts soon in an effort to compel the state to re-accept the boy and care for him properly.

Last year the state accepted the boy but later released him. Within a short time he was committing crimes again.

Judge Brubaker has appealed to the State Welfare Department as well as to Gov. Frank J. Lausche to take charge of the boy, but, because of his affliction, officials have declined to accept him.

Rail Service Ends

Near-tragedy marred the final trip for 238 as it came through Urbancrest, near Columbus. The train hit a car driven by Harry M. Peake, 23, of Urbancrest and demolished the vehicle's front end. No one was hurt. The train was delayed about 10 minutes.

Crew on 233 for the last trip included Clifford Graves, engineer; Robert Wilkins, fireman; H. R. Ward, conductor; O. C. Barcalow, trainman; Handley as flagman, and M. E. Taylor, baggageman.

On 238 for the last trip were Earl McCoy, engineer; R. E. Wise, fireman; Howard Steele, conductor; Arthur Dodson, flagman; Bill Perry, trainman, and Paul Kruz, baggageman.

Providing an anticlimax for the final run was a 22-car excursion train run the following day over the same tracks.

The excursion took close to 1,600 people from all over Ohio to Cincinnati to watch the Redlegs split a doubleheader with Pittsburgh.

Bogus Income Tax Returns Bring Jail Term for Woman

COLUMBUS (AP)—A 64-year-old Columbus widow was sentenced to three years in federal prison on six counts of defrauding the U. S. Government with fictitious "income tax returns" today.

Federal Judge Mel Underwood recommended placing the woman, Mrs. Mary Osendott, in a medical center.

An Internal Revenue Service agent said she had filed 67 fictitious returns in the last three years.

She filed the returns at 10 different Internal Revenue offices to collect $15,000 in withholding tax returns, the agent said.

Mrs. Osendott was not charged under Internal Revenue laws because the papers she filed were not actual income tax statements.

Rail Service Ends

Near-tragedy marred the final trip for 238 as it came through Urbancress, near Columbus. The train hit a car driven by Harry M. Peake, 23, of Urbancress and demolished the vehicle's front end. No one was hurt. The train was delayed about 10 minutes.

Crew on 233 for the last trip included Clifford Graves, engineer; Robert Wilkins, fireman; H. R. Ward, conductor; O. C. Barcalow, trainman; Handley as flagman, and M. E. Taylor, baggageman.

On 238 for the last trip were Earl McCoy, engineer; R. E. Wise, fireman; Howard Steele, conductor; Arthur Dodson, flagman; Bill Perry, trainman, and Paul Kruz, baggageman.

Providing an anticlimax for the final run was a 22-car excursion train run the following day over the same tracks.

The excursion took close to 1,600 people from all over Ohio to Cincinnati to watch the Redlegs split a doubleheader with Pittsburgh.

Bogus Income Tax Returns - Bring Jail Term for Woman

COLUMBUS (AP)—A 64-year-old Columbus widow was sentenced to three years in federal prison on six counts of defrauding the U. S. Government with fictitious "income tax returns" today.

Federal Judge Mel Underwood recommended placing the woman, Mrs. Mary Osendott, in a medical center.

An Internal Revenue Service agent said she had filed 67 fictitious returns in the last three years.

She filed the returns at 10 different Internal Revenue offices to collect $15,000 in withholding tax returns, the agent said.

Mrs. Osendott was not charged under Internal Revenue laws because the papers she filed were not actual income tax statements.

Glouster Banker Pleads Innocent

COLUMBUS (AP)—Federal Judge Mel Underwood today heard Floyd Eugene Coen, cashier of the Glouster Community Bank in Athens County, plead innocent to charges of embezzling $6,898.

Underwood gave Coen three days to hire an attorney.

All-Star Game Monday Evening

Hold everything!
The Little League all-star game between the Washington C. H. All-Stars and a Portsmouth All-Star team will be played Monday evening (tonight) instead of Tuesday.

Someone slipped up somewhere, Little League commissioner Max Lawrence said, and told the Portsmouth team to get up here Monday evening. And by the time Lawrence found out about it, the team was already on its way.

So the game will be at 6 p. m. this evening at Wilson Field instead of tomorrow evening as previously announced.

Drugs Stolen

CHICAGO (AP)—Burglars today battered a side wall of a Chicago wholesale drug firm and stole about $150,000 worth of the miracle drug aureomycin.

Japan Records New Test Blast

TOKYO (AP)—The Japanese weather bureau says the United States set off its eighth nuclear blast of its current test series in the southwest Pacific Saturday.

The bureau said the explosion at the U. S. test area at Bikini Atoll was more powerful than the first of the explosions in the series, May 21, but less powerful than an explosion July 11.

The May 21 blast was watched by American newsmen. The United States has neither confirmed nor denied Japanese reports of subsequent explosions.

School Board Aide Gets Term in Pen

CLEVELAND (AP)—For embezzling $44,000 from the Fairview Park school board, Robert H. Montgomery, 34, today was sentenced to 1-20 years in Ohio Penitentiary.

Log Lodge Taking Form

First panel of the log walls of the lodge was in place by noon.

Half of the walls of the lodge was in place when the day ended.

It was a tired but happy bunch of outdoor lovers that stood back Sunday evening and looked with satisfaction at the front and one side of the log lodge they had put up Sunday on the Fayette County Fish and Game Assn. recreation area on Rattlesnake Creek near Buena Vista.

They were in high spirits because, as they put it, "we can now see the end" of a project that was started two years ago for the development of the area—and the log lodge was the one most important part of the overall program.

The wall-raising was made an all day affair. More than 40 of the outdoorsmen, armed with hammers and saws, went to the area to lend a hand with the work. No accurate check was made on the workers; some stayed all day and some only a few hours.

Several took advantage of the occasion to make a family affair of it, with picnics at noon and in the evening.

Traffic Was Heavy But No Bad Mishaps

Thousands of motor vehicles passed through Fayette County and Washington C. H. Sunday, but not a single serious mishap was reported.

Only two or three minor accidents occurred, and only one arrest was made for reckless operation.

Officers reported that for the most part all drivers were observing the law carefully and that there was a noticeable decrease in the number of speeders.

Estranged Mate Shot by Woman

MEDINA (AP)—Sheriff Charles W. Williams today continued investigation of the shooting Saturday of Glen F. Johnson, 40.

Johnson was struck in the groin and left hand by two of eight bullets fired at him when he kicked in the basement door and entered the home of his former wife, Mrs. Edith Calvert, 32, in Brunswick. Williams said Mrs. Calvert admitted firing the shots when Johnson refused to leave the house.

While most of the workers concentrated on the lodge construction, a good many of them helped put the rifle range in shape.

Much of the morning was devoted to cutting the sassafras logs into the proper lengths. A power saw was used for most of this work.

With that done, the crew got up a 10-foot wide section of logs by noon, but went along much faster in the afternoon.

When they called it a day, the workers had the front wall and the one end in place.

Some of the association members said they planned to go back Thursday afternoon, but most of the rest of the construction is to be done next Sunday. They hope to get walls up and, perhaps, some of the gable ends and roof, in place by this time next week.

No Passing Signs Are To Be Erected

"No passing" signs are to be erected at the various approaches to the junction of W. Court St. and Clinton, Leesburg and Highland Avenues, in order to channel the traffic properly into the intersection and at the same time give warning of out-of-town motorists that a dangerous junction is ahead.

The "no passing" signs will be on Clinton, Leesburg and Highland Avenues, a block from the "point" and City Manager James F. Parkinson stated that strict observance of the signs will be required as a safety measure.

Knife-Wielder Shot by Woman

WARREN (AP)—Abram Clark Shufelt, 32, of Eggertsville, N. Y., was shot dead yesterday by a woman after he broke into her house and stabbed a man who was sleeping on a chair there.

Sheriff T. Herbert Thomas said Mrs. Martha Coffman, 32, admitted firing a pistol bullet into Shufelt's head after he had stabbed Robert Jones, 25, several times, wounding him critically. The sheriff said Shufelt had a record of arrests and mental illness.

Marion Man Named as Head Of Ohio's American Legion

CLEVELAND (AP)—Fred W. Thacker of Marion was elected president of the Ohio Department of the American Legion at the close of its 38th convention Sunday.

Thacker, who has been first vice commander, was one of three World War II Air Force veterans elected to top posts.

Merle F. Brady of Van Wert was named first vice commander. Herman D. Devor of Greenville defeated three opponents for second vice commander, considered the stepping stone to top leadership.

Thomas D. Copeland of Bowers town was elected treasurer and James M. Wagonseller of Lancaster national executive committee.

Rabbi Nathan Zellizer of Columbus was elected chaplain, and Joseph S. Deuschle Sr. of Columbus was reappointed state adjutant for his 11th term.

The new officers were installed by Clarence W. Whitemyer of Canton, past national executive committeeman. Before the election, a community service award was presented to Frehont Post 201.

The convention closed with a three hour parade, featuring 10,000 marchers, including 40 bands and drum-and-bugle corps. Gov. Frank J. Lausche and Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze rode in an automobile. Police estimated 125,000 spectators lined the route in downtown Cleveland.

Parade winners were:

Best drum major—Canton Post Band 44.

Best junior band—Canfield.

Best drill team—Toronto.

Best senior drum corps—Bellefontaine.

Better Safety Air Traffic Control Sought

The recent unusual number of tragic airplane crashes is resulting in a general demand that steps be taken to do something about the existing rules in air traffic which will give more protection to the public.

There is outspoken criticism about the Civil Aeronautics Administration control system which, under the present high volume of air traffic, would seem to point to the fact that it is not keeping the safety pace equal to the rapidly developing high speed and huge amount of flying.

Safety is and always has been of high concern in this country's air passenger and transport industry. The record established in the past has been a good one, but increased traffic with highly improved planes needs some adjusting in avoiding aerial traffic jams and some of the other things that appear to be a cause for too many deadly accidents.

This month a committee of the Airline Pilots Association has arranged a meeting in Chicago. It is said that some of the business of this group will be to consider a proposal that commercial airmen refuse to handle jet passenger liners until something is done toward making the nation's airline routes safer.

After completing an on-the-spot investigation of the recent Grand Canyon air tragedy, Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark) flatly asserted that CAA regulations are outmoded. "We have been working under the same rules for 12 years," he declared. He indicated that the rules for instrument (IFR) and visual (VFR) flight were a little right when planes were less numerous and much slower. However now airplanes are crowded and, with the advent of commercial jets, the problem of keeping track of hundreds of passenger craft will be that much greater.

Until the Grand Canyon accident the CAA seemed reluctant to make air-traffic controls more stringent and to require all planes to carry radar signalling devices. Its reluctance was the result, in part, of heavy pressure from amateur pilots and some "non-sched" operators. They own all but 1,175 of the 59,000 civilian planes in the United States and do 70 per cent of the flying. However, only nine per cent have the equipment and instrument ratings to fly completely controlled air routes. They are fearful that strict electronic policing of the nation's airlines will keep most of them on the ground.

This isn't the whole story. Congress must share part of the blame. It would cost a good deal of money — about $1 billion — to complete a ground-air network of automatic regulatory equipment and lawmakers haven't been too anxious to make the investment. Perhaps now they'll get busy, working with CAA in laying out adequately supervised highways of the air.

Diet and Health How To Help a Child When in Hospital

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

No one likes to go to a hospital. But for a youngster, a stay at the hospital might be a frightening experience, in the beginning at least.

It's up to you parents to allay these natural fears of your young child and make his stay as pleasant as possible.

Explain Things

The first thing to do is to try to give him some idea of what it's all about. Tell him in simple terms why he is going to the hospital and about how long he will have to stay.

Emphasize the fact that the doctors and nurses are his friends and that they want to help him.

If the patient is a small child, I think it's probably a good idea for his mother to share the hospital room with him. She can sleep there overnight, if the hospital has enough beds available and even spend a good part of the day with him.

Two Purposes

This serves two purposes. First, it doesn't separate the youngster from his mother at a time when he needs her most. Also, it gives the mother the feeling that she is helping the youngster by taking an active part in his recovery.

If it's impossible for her to remain with him overnight, the next best thing is to visit him each day. If she doesn't, the youngster might feel that he has been deserted or punished.

Such impressions might prematurely break the mother-child relationship, the strongest tie a youngster has. During these daily visits, take a few minutes to chat with the doctors and nurses attending your youngster. It will help them a great deal in understanding the child.

Ask the doctors and nurses if it's all right to bring your youngster some toys.

Educational Toys

If they approve—and generally it's advisable to keep a child occupied during a hospital stay—take him some educational toys. Not only will they keep him busy for longer periods, but he will enjoy them much more than simple mechanical toys.

Before your child is discharged from the hospital, have another talk with the doctor. Learn what the youngster can and cannot do during his convalescence.

One more word of advice: Don't pamper the returned patient any more than the doctor has advised. After all, you don't want a spoiled child on your hands.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
D. C.: Do electric shock treatments for mental illness injure the memory?

Answer: The memory is sometimes slightly altered by shock treatments. However, if they are needed, this should be no bar against taking them.

The Nation Today

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — This year the Republicans will probably soft-pedal the Communists-in-government charge which they found so useful in the last two elections.

In the 1952 campaign, when Sen. McCarthy of Wisconsin was still a Republican hero, they did their best to create suspicion about the willingness of the Truman administration to get rid of Reds.

In the 1954 congressional election they trotted out figures to show how many dangerous characters they had ousted under President Eisenhower's new loyalty-security program.

Those figures came back to haunt the Republicans. As has been pointed out many times since, by Democrats and by newspapers, the figures were misleading when used to imply disloyalty or subversion.

Under one general head of security risks they bunched possible subversives with drunks, homosexuals, loudmouths and general misfits. The Democrats put a name on this whole business: a "numbers racket."

The Supreme Court ruled Eisenhower's program went too far in trying to cover too many jobs. And Eisenhower has appointed a special commission to study his program.

The Democrats weren't going to allow the Republicans a repeat performance in 1956, if they could help it. They worked hard to back up their charges of distortion in the Republican figures.

They may have thought a new investigation would expose a gold mine. They gave this job to the Senate's Post Office and Civil Service Committee headed by Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-SC).

A subcommittee did the investigating. Its work has been something less than sensational although it held 19 days of hearings and questioned 73 witnesses. But it did find how misleading some of the figures were.

Now it has issued a 549-page report which no one will read unless he has to. It is one of the most disorganized, disjointed and meandering reports this writer has ever seen come out of a congressional committee.

Nevertheless, it has some ammunition Democrats can use against Republicans if they try talking numbers this year. The subcommittee turned savagely on Philip Young, chairman of the Civil Service Commission.

It's Young's commission which periodically produced the figures on the number of those let out of the government under Eisenhower's program.

The subcommittee said Young, "a personal adviser to the President... deliberately compiled figures which are basically dishonest." As an example of what it meant:

The commission reported that between May 28, 1953, and Jan. 30, 1955, there were 3,586 government employees "terminated because of security questions."

The commission says actually only 343—less than 10 per cent of the 3,586—were let out under Eisenhower's program. The rest were handled under normal civil service procedures. And some of the 343 were rehired.

The subcommittee said the commission's figures on those who left the government with security questions—settled or unsettled—in their files included:

Employees, who had died, duplicates, part-time consultants, transferees, aliens, persons who resigned because of illness or to go into private industry, and even men drafted into military service. The commission hasn't produced any figures in a long time.

Ohio Mental Patient Kills Inmate, 63

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A 27-year-old Columbus woman is "too mentally disturbed" to face charges in the strangulation of a fellow patient at Columbus State Hospital, Dr. Carl E. Feltrick, Franklin County deputy coroner, says.

Hospital authorities said Mrs. Virginia Ann Taylor, mother of four, admitted strangling Miss Maggie E. Brocklesby, 63, in a small room of the tuberculosis isolation cottage Sunday.

Miss Brocklesby, a patient in the hospital for 37 years, was originally from Edison in Morrow County. Mrs. Taylor entered the hospital July 11.

Dr. Marlin R. Wedemeyer, hospital superintendent, said Mrs. Taylor suffered from a "severe psychosis" that caused her to do "impulsive acts" without meaning.

Dieting Man Is a Fanatic

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—At long last I have figured out why most people go on a diet.

They don't do it merely to lose weight. They do it because it makes them feel more important to themselves. At least this is true of men.

Women are different. They never take themselves for granted, and never let anyone else do so either. A woman finds it easier than a man to keep her self-esteem. She is vitally interested in herself, and everything about herself interests her. She rarely finds herself the last bit boring.

They say a true philosopher can escape the ennui of living by contemplating his navel. But a woman can go a philosopher one better. She can spend a happy afternoon, oblivious to everything else, in simply fixing a navel or trimming an arching eyebrow.

But after 35 the ordinary man finds it increasingly harder to think he amounts to very much. He feels more and more that he is only an easily replaceable cog of flesh in a mass world.

He wearies of shaving the same old bloomy face every day. He eats himself out of shape because it gives himself something to do. He drops into a bar on the way home not for a few rounds of fellowship and good cheer so much as because it enables him to forget for an hour or so his own gnawing sense of unimportance in a civilization seemingly growing more godball every year.

But let him go on a diet, and he changes almost overnight. Dieting has become a national form of poor man's psychiatry. A man gripped by the dieting mania is like a slot machine addict. He is lost in a passion greater than himself. He is a crusader, fighting in a great cause.

He becomes more worried over whether he can drop another pound than whether some nation will drop an H-bomb. He counts his calories like a reverse miser, the fewer the better.

If a mosquito stabs him, he doesn't fret about the sting. He rushes to the scales to see if the swelling caused him to gain an ounce.

Every pound he peels off is a major victory. He hums an interior hosanna.

He no longer feels like any other faceless ant slaving in the human ant hill of living. He is proud of himself. He feels immeasurably superior to his wastrel friends, who go about suffocated in their own blubber.

He becomes as smug and foolish as a preening peacock. He is likely also to become a snob and a bore and a fanatic. But like all fanatics, gripped by a wildfire fever of faith, he is strangely happy in a way denied to lesser mortals who lack a sacred belief.

And, like most fanatics, he is determined to convert all those about him, whether they want to be converted or not. Take my own case. Seven weeks ago I weighed 207 pounds and had to quit wearing bowties because my chubby chins overflowed them. Well, sir, now I'm down to a tiger-trim 187 pounds, and all I did was to—

See what I mean—

Miracles... and the Will To Live

By George Sokolsky

The ordeal of Jean Margetis, who managed to live for nine days under the body of her car and heavy oak scrub, without food or water, wounded, but not killed as was her companion, has stirred astonishment. Yet the Old Testament tells of prolonged fasts, 40 days and 40 nights. The ancients believed that an equilibrium could be found between body and soul and that from fasting would come the triumph of the spirit.

In this materialistic age and country, where the steak is the symbol of success, a belly civilization does not answer man's need for a satisfaction of the cravings of the spirit.

If doctors wonder how human beings last without food or water, let them study the history of besieged cities to know how mothers suffered extreme privation to give their children barely enough. Under such circumstances, no one thinks of vitamins, no matter how colored, but only of the will to survive, the will to live.

And when that will asserts itself, the human body only too often responds to it even when medicines have failed. We call such episodes miracles and materialistic guessers deny that miracles ever took place, even before their eyes. Their explanation is agnostic; they do not know what happened.

Science has, in the recent past, blinded our eyes to the facts of life, which are so often recorded in the most ancient writ of all peoples. Not everything can be established by mathematical equations, and even Einstein was forced to wonder what tremendous but impenetrable and unexplained power moved the forces of nature.

He did not live long enough to discover God, but Jean Margetis will be able to explain her miraculous survival not to some analyzable conservation of moisture in her body but to the spiritual forces within herself from which came to her the will to live.

The best textbook for the study of human psychology is "Job" in the Old Testament. Nobody ever had as much trouble as Job and he was sorely tried. Perhaps in these times, a man who had as many tribulations as Job would take an overdose of sleeping pills or would quiet himself into an alcoholic, but Job remained steadfast. He did not know of the new tranquilizers which have become such a fad, the veterinarians giving them to dogs who bark too much. His own description of what a big shot he was before his troubles started is a masterpiece:

"I put on righteousness, and it clothed me: My judgment was as a robe and a diadem."

"I was eyes to the blind, and feet was I to the lame."

"I was a father to the poor: And the cause which I knew not I researched out."

"And I brake the jaws of the wicked, and plucked the spoil out of his teeth."

"Then I said, I shall die in my nest, and I shall multiply my days as the sand."

"My root was spread out by the waters, and the dew lay all night upon my branch."

"My glory was fresh in me, and my bow was renewed in my hand."

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I have been married just a year, and in that time my husband has been completely loving and devoted; yet I have tortured myself and him by morbid curiosity about his past experiences.

He has been honest with me always; but I have been hurt nonetheless to the extent of making up false stories about myself, to hurt him as I was hurt. I've known at the time that such behavior is wrong and cruel, but it seems some compulsion drove me to it. I try to be honest with myself, to learn what makes me act that way. Could it be lack of parental love when I was a child? Am I some sort of masochist? Am I resentful of being female; and therefore jealous? Am I just a spoiled brat, wanting to be possessive?

Sometimes I feel as if I am trying to absorb Bob's personality into my own; and I realize how unnatural this is. I respect him as an individual and enjoy his intelligent company; and I want to be the kind of wife he wants.

C. P. DEAR C. P.: As I get the picture, you aren't oriented to love, but, rather, geared to embittered anxiety and self-concern. Inasmuch as you aren't able to love (in your hostile, defensive, mixed-up state), you have no inclusive experience of "at-oneness" with Bob; no inner sense of real psychological relationship, or togetherness, with him.

Psychologically you've been playing a lone hand in the marriage, as if appearances of Bob's devotion aren't to be trusted. As if you must be ever on guard against heaven-knows-what possible injuries or offenses to your scarred and frightened ego; always on the alert, using all your wits to take care of yourself, and secure and promote your welfare, as Bob's wife.

Being neurotic, you are therefore a meager personality, in affectional matters, at this writing. And it may be, as you suggest, that your sense of jealousy is somehow associated with being female; and that unconsciously you resent the feminine role in life; or rather, resent man's larger range and lesser pains, as it seems to you.

Are you fooling yourself, in thinking you want to overcome the trouble? To some extent, yes. To really savor interpersonal harmony, after long habituation in anger-feelings, you'd have to bring about a big evolution in your personality—and that takes effort. Cruelty has a kick of its own, like forms of drug addiction, that tends to wean personality from wholesome behavior and the joys thereof. In my opinion, you need first-hand psychiatric help, supplemented by spiritual therapy, to launch you on the path of confident living.

M. H. Mary Haworth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write her in care of this newspaper.

797 Receive Vaccine Shots

325 "Firsts" Given
Figures Show Now

A total of 797 young people received free Salk polio vaccine shots at last Tuesday's polio clinic, figures compiled today by the County Health Department show.

Of these, the figures show, 325 were given first shots. The other 472 got second shots, administered to those who had received their first shots at the original clinic three weeks previously.

First shots administered to youngsters in the 16-to-19-year-old bracket numbered 52. This was "fewer than we counted on," Miss Gretchen Darlington, senior county Health Department nurse, commented.

Youngsters in the 16-to-19-year bracket were given shots for the first time at Tuesday's clinic. Previously, only youngsters from one to 15 had been given the free serum.

Ten pregnant women received first shots, the figures show, while five others received second shots.

Children under 16 receiving their first shots totaled 263. This means that a total of 764 youngsters under 16 have now received at least one shot of the free vaccine.

Total number receiving first shots at the clinic last month was 506, of which group 472 came back for second shots. The others, along with those who received first shots last Tuesday, will have another chance at the vaccine at the beginning of August.

In earlier days, penalties were imposed on men who refused to fill minor public offices in Rhode Island.

As if you must be ever on guard against heaven-knows-what possible injuries or offenses to your scarred and frightened ego; always on the alert, using all your wits to take care of yourself, and secure and promote your welfare, as Bob's wife.

Being neurotic, you are therefore a meager personality, in affectional matters, at this writing. And it may be, as you suggest, that your sense of jeopardy is somehow associated with being female; and that unconsciously you resent the feminine role in life; or rather, resent man's larger range and lesser pains, as it seems to you.

Are you fooling yourself, in thinking you want to overcome the trouble? To some extent, yes. To really savor interpersonal harmony, after long habituation in anger-feelings, you'd have to bring about a big evolution in your personality—and that takes effort. Cruelty has a kick of its own, like forms of drug addiction, that tends to wean personality from wholesome behavior and the joys thereof. In my opinion, you need first-hand psychiatric help, supplemented by spiritual therapy, to launch you on the path of confident loving.

797 Receive Vaccine Shots

325 "Firsts" Given Figures Show Now

A total of 797 young people received free Salk polio vaccine shots at last Tuesday's polio clinic, figures compiled today by the County Health Department show.

Of these, the figures show, 325 were given first shots. The other 472 got second shots, administered to those who had received their first shots at the original clinic three weeks previously.

First shots administered to youngsters in the 16-to-19-year-old bracket numbered 52. This was "fewer than we counted on," Miss Gretchen Darlington, senior county Health Department nurse, commented.

Youngsters in the 16-to-19-year bracket were given shots for the first time at Tuesday's clinic. Previously, only youngsters from one to 15 had been given the free serum.

Ten pregnant women received first shots, the figures show, while five others received second shots.

Children under 16 receiving their first shots totaled 263. This means that a total of 764 youngsters under 16 have now received at least one shot of the free vaccine.

Total number receiving first shots at the clinic last month was 506, of which group 472 came back for second shots. The others, along with those who received first shots last Tuesday, will have another chance at the vaccine at the beginning of August.

In earlier days, penalties were imposed on men who refused to fill minor public offices in Rhode Island.

MOVES TO MAIN LINE—W. W. Handley of New Martinsburg, flagman on next to the last passenger train to pass through Washington C. H. Saturday afternoon, was accompanied on his last run on this division of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad by his wife, center, and Mrs. C. A. Wilson left, also of New Martinsburg. With the railroad for 34 years, Handley has been on the passenger trains through Washington C. H. for the past two years. He formerly was yard conductor here for 10 years. ### Debbie Domenico Is Honored at Birthday Party

Mrs. Fred Domenico entertained at an afternoon party a group of small friends of her daughter, Debbie, who was celebrating her fifth birthday.

A round of games were enjoyed by the children.
Debbie opened a lovely array of gifts.

A cake with five candles and a doll in the center, and ice cream were served on the lawn.

Guests at the party were Tommy and Lynn Montgomery, Becky and Beverly Russell, Tommy and Carol Filbin, Eileen and Johnny Higder, Kathy Wolford, and Debbie's younger brother, Michael. An out-of-town guest at the party was Susan Porcher of Newcomerstown.

Campfire Girls Meet with Leader

The Towanka Camp Fire Girls had a meeting at the home of their leader Mrs. Robert Woodmansee.

Part of the time was spent in getting things ready for the Camp Fire booth at the Fayette County Fair.

The rest of the time was used for making plans for an all day cook-out to be held Aug. 6. Menus were made for three outdoor meals, to be cooked without utensils, and the games to be played between the meals were planned. The girls are to make "hobo packs" to be used on the cook-out and they decided what they would need for cided what they would need for these.

The next meeting will be held Aug. 4 to complete preparations for the cook-out.

Those present at the meeting were Carmella Cousins, Arita Moats, Phyllis Wallace, Faye Williams, Karen Woodmansee, and the assistant leader, Mrs. Robert Wallace.

Family Honors Mrs. Thompson

Mrs. Floyd Thompson was honored at a surprise birthday party planned by her husband and children.

A delicious buffet style dinner was enjoyed following the unwrapping of gifts.

The group spent the rest of the evening playing musical instruments and watching television.

Guests at the event were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Runyon, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Sells, Mr. and Mrs. Orland Harris and daughter, Mr.

Advanced Pupils Of Mrs. R. E. Willis In Piano Recital

A presentation of piano students of the advanced class of Mrs. Robert E. Willis proved a delightful recital for parents and friends at the Willis home on Van Deman St. Ave.

Mr. David L. Foster, a special guest and a former piano student of Mrs. Willis, who returns soon to the Oberlin Conservatory of Music for his junior year, concluded the program. He delighted the audience with a group of piano numbers.

Mrs. Hugh W. Payton graciously received the guests and distributed the printed program which was as follows:

A piano duet, "Rustic Dance", by Karen Ware and Jane Davis.

Two numbers, "Royal Hunt" and "Fireside Song", by Steven Herbert.

Carolyn Carr presented three numbers "Prelude in D Minor", "Waltz in A-Flat Major" and "Knight Rupert".

Two numbers, "Voices of the Morning" and "Flying Leaves", by Betty Lou Moberly.

Georgia Clifton presented "Venetian Love Song".

A selection, "Variations on the Theme Chopsticks", by Jane Davis.

Two numbers, "Fur Elise" and "Simple Aveu" by Stephen Foster.

A group of numbers, "Jugglers", "Hungarian" and "Narcissus" by Karen Ware.

Anne Craig presented "Opus 299—No. 3", "To a Water-Lily" and "Spring Song".

A selection, "Minuet in G", by Janice Gillen.

Three numbers, "The Singing River", "The Old Guide's Story" and "Lumber Jack Dance" by George Garringer.

Georgia Clifton presented a number of soprano solos, "The Robin Sings in the Apple Tree", "At Dawning", "The Wooden Clock", "A Little Pink Rose" and "You Will Never Walk Alone." She was accompanied by Janis Gillen.

Mr. David L. Foster presented "Prelude and Fugue No. 13" (J. S. Bach), "Intermezzo" (Brahms) and "Prelude in G Minor" (Rachmaninoff).

Personals

Jeff Loses SWO Lead; Now Tied for Second

Jeffersonville's invincible baseball machine finally broke down Sunday — and it came a-thundering. The Jeff Southwestern Ohio League squad lost both ends of a doubleheader to Chillicothe squads and fell out of first place for the first time this season.

In the first game, the Jeff squad bowed to the Chillicothe Reformatory, 8-4, and in the second they were beaten by the Chillicothe Businessmen, 6-2.

The two defeats put Jeff out of their position at the top of the League and into a tie for first with the Businessmen.

Jeff's team did win one ball game over the weekend, despite their hard luck Sunday. They beat the Dayton Athletics, 20-1, at Jeffersonville Saturday. The three games in two days apparently wore them out.

In the first game, Jeff bowed to

Flashes Edge Jets In Little League

After a wild second inning in which all but 2 runs of the game were scored, the Flashes edged the Jets, 7 to 6, in a Little League tilt at Wilson Field Saturday.

The Jets took what looked like a solid advantage in the second inning when they put across 5 runs. But, the Flashes came right back in their half with 6 runs to ease ahead, then added another in the third.

This run in the third proved to be the one that made the difference; for the Jets came within one of tying the tally in the fifth.

Terry Armbrust got one hit in three trips—but it was a triple that scored three of the Flashes in the second.

Pitching for both teams was outstanding. Halliday, on the mound for the Flashes, held the hard-hitting Jets to 3 hits. He was best when it counted most and pitched himself out of trouble in the last four innings. In two of those four innings, he managed to retire the side with the bases loaded. In the last inning with the Jets trailing by only one run, he fanned the last batter.

All three pitchers, Ellars and Wilson for the Jets and Halliday for the Flashes, had trouble locating the plate at times. All told they gave up 17 bases on balls and fanned only eight.

Wilt Leads Seals Into Babe Ruth Lead

The Seals, led by the classy pitching of Ron Wilt, moved into first place in the Babe Ruth League Saturday with a 5-2 victory over Bloomington at the Bloomington field.

The Seals scored their five runs on four hits in a pitcher's battle for the victory.

Wilt, leading his team in the fracas, struck out 11 batters and gave up only three hits. He picked up one hit and one of his team's runs in the battle.

Carl Snyder, pitching for the losers, had the misfortune of losing a cleanly-pitched ball game. He gave up only four hits and two walks, while striking out 10 Seals.

Loose playing in the field gave both teams their runs as not a single tally was earned. Four big Bloomington errors did the damage the Seals needed.

Horseshoe Champ Leading Tourney

MURRAY, Utah (AP)—Defending champion Ted Allen of Boulder, Colo., undefeated in 21 matches, leads the world horseshoe pitching championships into the fourth round tonight.

Finals in all classes of the round-robin matches will be held tomorrow night. The top four in the 36-man Class A competition will play a round-robin for the world title. There are 16 competing in Class B. They include:

Earl Winston, Lamont, Mo.; Stanley Manker, Martinsville, Ohio; Loy Ross, Carthage, Mo.; and Roger Vogel, Manitou, Ill.

Milwaukee pitcher Lew Burdette led the National League pitchers with a 2.29 earned run mark at the halfway point of the 1956 pennant race. Ray Narleski had the same distinction for Cleveland with a 1.62 mark.

Golf's 19th Hole

The handicap golf tournaments today were just about at the end of the road. After six weeks of play, the fields have been narrowed down to the finals in three divisions.

During the week, Mrs. Marvin Roszmann beat Mrs. Wayne Shobe 2 up and Mrs. Robert Hagerty beat Mrs. Robert Link 6 and 5 and now Mrs. Roszmann is ready to meet Mrs. Willard McLean in the final of the championship flight of the women's tourney and Mrs. Hagerty is to play Mrs. Byers Shaw in the final of the first flight.

In the men's tournament, Horace Jacobs and Howard Brown are to meet in the final of the third flight.

In matches played during the week Austin Wise beat Wayne Shobe 2 up; Dr. William Lawyer beat Dr. Joseph Herbert 2 up; Brown beat Taylor Talmadge 1 up and Chuck Cummings beat Jay Crabtree 3 and 2.

SHARING the week's spotlight at the Country Club with the closing matches of the tournaments was a

Good Hope Outhits Hillsboro, Wins 4-2

Good Hope nosed out Hillsboro, 4-2, in South Western Ohio League play at Hillsboro Sunday afternoon. The victory came as Good Hope batters pummeled Hillsboro pitching for 11 big hits.

The Fayette County nine picked up one run in the first and three more in the fifth for the victory. Hillsboro did not score until the sixth when their two tallies were picked up.

Good Hope batters slugged their way through two pitchers in the fray, hitting in practically every inning. Dale Dawes led the barrage with a long fifth-inning triple.

Pitching for Good Hope, Bob Dawes gave up only three hits while striking out 11.

spectacular shot by Ed Cunningham. Teeing off for No. 7 green 343 yards away, he sliced his drive about 250 yards, but it came to rest in the rough to the right of the fairway. With a No. 8 iron he sent it soaring high over the trees to the green . . . and the ball trickled in a bee line into the cup. John Petty witnessed the shot.

Cunningham has two holes-in-one to his credit, one on No. 5 and the other on No. 8.

Only one other eagle on the par 4 No. 7 hole could be recalled. It was made by Frank Truitt, former coach at Bloomington High School three years ago. He hit his tee shot about 275 yards, but hooked it slightly to the left for a clear pitch to the green.

Lavelli Decides Against Quitting

HIRAM (AP)—Dante Lavelli, the Cleveland Browns' star pass-catching end, has changed his mind about retiring.

With Lavelli in training camp for his 11th season with the Browns, a little of the pressure is lifted from the new quarterback, Babe Parilli. In trying to fill the big gap left by the retirement of Otto Graham, Parilli will at least have one of Graham's favorite passing targets. Paired with Lavelli will be another experienced end, Pete Brewster.

Canadian Swims 32-Mile Stretch

TORONTO (AP)—A 36-year-old Toronto steamfitter, fighting off fatigue after more than 21 hours in Lake Ontario, summoned enough strength to climb ashore on the Toronto waterfront early today to become the first man to conquer the 32 miles to Niagara-On-The-Lake, Ont.

Barrel-chested John Jaremy, inching ahead against strong currents in his last few miles, set out at 5:45 a. m. yesterday and ended the grind at approximately 3 a. m. today—a total of 21 hours and 13 minutes.

Archery Champion Defends His Title

CINCINNATI (AP)—Sylvester Chessman of Cleveland successfully defended his Ohio men's archery title here yesterday at the state championships.

Nancy Breneman of Columbus, 19-year-old Ohio State freshman, became the new women's state target champion.

Milledgeville Nips Blanchester, 3-2

Taking advantage of four Blanchester errors, the Milledgeville Southwestern Ohio League nine chalked up another League victory Sunday, 3-2, at Blanchester.

The Milledgeville nine picked up one run in the third and two more in the seventh for the victory. Blanchester didn't touch home once until the eighth when both of their runs came across.

Up against good pitching, the Milledgeville squad was able to make only four hits in the ball game. It was the errors that really helped them into the triumph.

Both of the seventh inning runs came home on errors. Ron Woodruff scored one and Lon Mongol the other.

Finals Coming Up In Tennis Meet

CHICAGO (AP)—Ed Moylan came from behind yesterday to defeat Bernard Bartzten and move into today's finals in the National Clay Courts Tennis Tournament.

Seeded third, Moylan, who hails from Trenton, N. J., goes against Herb Flam, Beverly Hills, Calif., in the finals this afternoon.

Wimbledon champion Shirley Fry, St. Petersburg, Fla., and Althea Gibson, New York, the one and two seeds, respectively, will meet for the women's title.

Knick to Show Tall Hoop Squad

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Knickerbockers have increased eight inches in average height in the past 10 years. Among the tall Knicks this fall will be Walter Dukes, 7 feet; Ray Felix, 6 feet 11; Kenny Sears, 6 feet 9 and two 6 foot 8 rookies, Ronnie Shavlik of North Carolina State and Gary Bergen of Utah.

Such a starting five would average 6 feet 9 3/5 inches. Ten years ago the first Knickerbocker team that met the Chicago Stags in Madison Square Garden averaged 6 feet 1 2/5 inches.

Manager's Question: How Did He Get In?

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—Theater manager Willard Croom probably could have read his anonymous letter by the happy glow of Diogenes' lantern.

"I am enclosing $1 to you. The money is for movies I saw at your theater. I want you to forgive me for sneaking in your theater, and I promise I will not do it again."

Wishing the honest soul to get his earthly reward, Croom commented, "I wish I knew who it was. I'd give him a season pass."

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W
One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

Green Has Single Plus

HANOVER, N. H. (AP)—Dartmouth's V-system football attack combines the power of the single wing with the finesse of the T formation. The Big Green this fall will move the fullback up close to the scrimmage line, usually between the guard and tackle. The fullback, on such formations, will be used chiefly as a blocking back.

Knickerbocker Tall Hoop Squad

NEW YORK — The New York Knickerbocker hockey team has increased eight inches in average height in the past 10 years. Among the tall Knicks this fall will be Walter Dukes, 7 feet; Ray Felix, 6 feet 11; Kenny Sears, 6 feet 9 and two 6 foot 8 rookies, Ronnie Shavlik of North Carolina State and Gary Bergen of Utah.

Such a starting five would average 6 feet 9 3/5 inches. Ten years ago the first Knickerbocker team that met the Chicago Stags in Madison Square Garden averaged 6 feet 1 2/5 inches.

Manager's Question: How Did He Get In?

RALEIGH, N. C. — Theater manager Willard Croom probably could have read his anonymous letter by the happy glow of Diogenes' lantern:

"I am inclosing $1 to you. The money is for movies I saw at your theater. I want you to forgive me for sneaking in your theater, and I promise I will not do it again."

Wishing the honest soul to get his earthly reward, Croom commented, "I wish I knew who it was. I'd give him a season pass."

Commissioners Require That Plats Be Filed

Avoidance of Error In Transfer of Small Parcels of Land

A resolution was passed by the Fayette County Board of Commissioners at their regular meeting in the Court House Monday to the effect that any division of land in any subdivision in Fayette County of less than five acres must have a plat approved by the commissioners before any transfer is made.

The purpose of this action, it was stated, is to avoid any complications in connection with the transfer of small parcels of land.

Some cases, it was said, have come to attention of county officials whereby the purchase of a small piece of land on which a buyer planned an erection of a residence or other building, have resulted in placing such buildings on the wrong land. The filing of a proper plat, it was stated, will help to avoid complications in questions of ownership, also in tax collections.

The commissioners at this session also passed a resolution authorizing the county engineer to re-survey the Milledgeville - Octa County Road from the Allen Rd., to its intersection with U. S. Route 33, a distance of 3.616 miles.

THE RESURFACING job was awarded to the Blue Rock Paving Corporation and is to be of machine laid plant mix asphalt, at a rate not to exceed $3,000 per mile.

The minutes approved by the commissioners Monday, on the proposed renewal of a two tenths of a mill levy for five years, for the Fayette County Health Department, was based upon the filing of a certificate of need by the Health Department for the departmental budget showing a total of $22,485.

THE CERTIFICATE showed that only $10,800 of the sum required was within the 10 mill limitation in the county, with anticipated revenue of $7,185 from other sources. This required approximately $14,600 to be raised by a levy renewal. The two tenths of a mill is expected to provide, if passed, about $12,000 of this amount and the other $2,600 will come from a balance of approximately $2,000 in the departmental operation fund, being carried over.

The levy, when passed, will appear on the tax duplicate through the years 1956 to 1960 inclusive. It means two cents on each $100 in property value on the tax duplicate.

Lewis Schmidt Dies Suddenly in Good Hope

Lewis Schmidt, 72, died suddenly in Good Hope at 11 a. m. Monday. He had apparently been in good health until the time of his death.

Details were not immediately available. Funeral arrangements with the Murray Funeral Home in Greenfield have not been completed.

Ag Agency Tells Rule on Soil Bank Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The new soil bank program offers larger payments this year for land farmers have not planted in crops than for land on which crops are destroyed by plowing under or clipping.

This applies to land retired under the program.

Under terms of the program announced by the Agriculture department June 8, the grower of spring wheat, corn, tobacco, rice or peanuts who did not plant his full federal allotment to these crops will get a payment based on the normal yield of his retired land.

But the farmer who plows under, clips or otherwise destroys any of these crops to bring about reduced production under the program will get a payment based on the appraised yield of the affected land or its normal yield, whichever is less.

But in no case will the payment on land on which crops are destroyed be less than $6 an acre.

Police Exams Taken by Eight

Results of police examinations given Saturday were being tabulated Monday by Miss Marie Melvin, secretary of the Civil Service Board, in order that an eligibility list might be made up as soon as possible.

Eight men took the exam Saturday. Two of them are already on the police force in temporary positions. Of the group, those with the top three scores will be certified by City Manager James F. Parkinson to fill vacancies on the force.

Certification has not been made yet, but it was announced that the top scores were obtained by Simon White, Jr., 617 Broadway; John A. Dilley, 808 Maple St.; Roy C. Underwood, Jr., 511 E. Temple St.; and William J. Elzy, 426 S. Fayette St.

Others taking the exam were Clinton Junior Long, 1612 Washington Ave.; Charles McArthur, Wayne Township; Charles Jackson, 1102 Gregg St., and Lloyd H. Cartwright, Jr., of near Washington C. H.

Dilley and McArthur are the two men on temporary status.

Humphrey Role In Ohio Eyed

Clevelander To Aid Bender in Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey's venture into the field of political campaigning drew taunts from the Democrats and praise from the Republicans today.

Sen. Bender (R-Ohio) announced Saturday Humphrey had agreed to serve as chairman of his reelection campaign committee. Bender said the cabinet member's decision was "in direct keeping with President Eisenhower's efforts to win a working majority in the Senate next November."

Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche, opposing Bender in the November election, has intimated he might vote to give the GOP Senate control, depending on who is elected President.

Humphrey's decision to give active campaign help to Bender was described by Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore) as a sign that "there are no political holds barred anywhere in this Republican administration."

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala), the 1952 Democratic vice presidential nominee, said the decision ought to assure Bender's getting plenty of financial support for his campaign against Lausche.

HUMPHREY, a wealthy Ohio industrialist, already has written letters soliciting donations to a $500,000 campaign fund from Bender's friends.

"This shows how desperate Bender's case is if the Republicans have to reach right up to the No. 2 man next to the President" to help Bender, Sparkman said.

Chairman Schoeppel (Kan) of the Republican senatorial campaign committee said he wants to "congratulate Sen. Bender and the Republican ticket in Ohio" for persuading Humphrey to take an active part in the campaign.

Pennington 'Benefit' Slated At Speedway Monday Night

Stock car races Monday night at the Washington C. H. Speedway to help raise money for the Pennington Bakery fund were hurriedly arranged by Phillip Tatman, the general manager, during the week-end.

Tatman explained that originally the races were to have been held Wednesday night, but that these plans were changed because the management did not want to do anything to interfere with the Fair.

Since Monday night is the only one this week on which there is to be no Night Fair, the races were shifted to that night.

The time trials are scheduled to start at 7:30 p. m. with the first race slated to get under way at 8:30 p. m.

Tatman said that all the proceeds, after the basic expenses had been deducted would be turned over to the committee raising the $50,000 Pennington financial aid fund.

He explained that several of the drivers were employed by the Pennington company and raced stock cars as a hobby on weekends. He also pointed out that many Pennington employees were stock car race fans and regular spectators at the Saturday night races here.

THE CUSTOMARY purses are to be turned over to the drivers, Tatman said, but he added that most of them had told him they would contribute any money they win to the fund.

Tatman said the crowds at the Saturday night races here had been averaging around 1,500 to 1,800 and commented that "if this benefit program brings out an average crowd, we should be able to turn over around $1,500.

On the program will be seven races—just like the regular weekly programs— he said.

Results of police examinations given Saturday were being tabulated Monday by Miss Marie Melvin, secretary of the Civil Service Board, in order that an eligibility list might be made up as soon as possible.

Eight men took the exam Saturday. Two of them are already on the police force in temporary positions. Of the group, those with the top three scores will be certified by City Manager James F. Parkinson to fill vacancies on the force.

Certification has not been made yet, but it was announced that the top scores were obtained by Simon White, Jr., 617 Broadway; John A. Dilley, 808 Maple St.; Roy C. Underwood, Jr., 511 E. Temple St.; and William J. Elzy, 426 S. Fayette St.

Others taking the exam were Clinton Junior Long, 1612 Washington Ave.; Charles McArthur, Wayne Township; Charles Jackson, 1102 Gregg St.; and Lloyd H. Cartwright, Jr., of near Washington C. H.

Dilley and McArthur are the two men on temporary status.

Humphrey Role In Ohio Eyed

Clevelanders To Aid Bender in Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey's venture into the field of political campaigning drew taunts from the Democrats and praise from the Republicans today.

Sen. Bender (R-Ohio) announced Saturday Humphrey had agreed to serve as chairman of his reelection campaign committee. Bender said the cabinet member's decision was "in direct keeping with President Eisenhower's efforts to win a working majority in the Senate next November."

Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche, opposing Bender in the November election, has intimated he might vote to give the GOP Senate control, depending on who is elected President.

Humphrey's decision to give active campaign help to Bender was described by Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore) as a sign that "there are no political holds barred anywhere in this Republican administration."

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala), the 1952 Democratic vice presidential nominee, said the decision ought to assure Bender's getting plenty of financial support for his campaign against Lausche.

HUMPHREY, a wealthy Ohio industrialist, already has written letters soliciting donations to a $500,000 campaign fund from Bender's friends.

"This shows how desperate Bender's case is if the Republicans have to reach right up to the No. 2 man next to the President" to help Bender, Sparkman said.

Chairman Schoepel (Kan) of the Republican senatorial campaign committee said he wants to "congratulate Sen. Bender and the Republican ticket in Ohio" for persuading Humphrey to take an active part in the campaign.

Pennington 'Benefit' Slated At Speedway Monday Night

Stock car races Monday night at the Washington C. H. Speedway to help raise money for the Pennington Bakery fund were hurriedly arranged by Phillip Tatman, the general manager, during the week-end.

Tatman explained that originally the races were to have been held Wednesday night, but that these plans were changed because the management did not want to do anything to interfere with the Fair.

Since Monday night is the only one this week on which there is to be no Night Fair, the races were shifted to that night.

The time trials are scheduled to start at 7:30 p. m. with the first race slated to get under way at 8:30 p. m.

Tatman said that all the proceeds, after the basic expenses had been deducted would be turned over to the committee raising the $50,000 Pennington financial aid fund.

He explained that several of the drivers were employed by the Pennington company and raced stock cars as a hobby on weekends. He also pointed out that many Pennington employees were stock car race fans and regular spectators at the Saturday night races here.

THE CUSTOMARY purses are to be turned over to the drivers, Tatman said, but he added that most of them had told him they would contribute any money they win to the fund.

Tatman said the crowds at the Saturday night races here had been averaging around 1,500 to 1,800 and commented that "if this benefit program brings out an average crowd, we should be able to turn over around $1,500.

On the program will be seven races—just like the regular weekly programs— he said.

Phone Strike Talks Resume In Portsmouth

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—Union and management negotiators resume talks today to try to end a nine-day strike of 600 operators and service workers at the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co.

R. N. Cole, company vice president, said company representatives and negotiators for the Communication Workers of America (CWA) agreed to meet at 10 a. m. (EST).

Both sides recessed negotiations Saturday night to "further study some of the proposed issues."

The strike began July 15 when the old one-year contract between Ohio Consolidated and the CWA expired. Working conditions and wage scales are the principal issues blocking agreement on a new contract.

A cable, damaged by vandals at nearby New Boston, was expected to be restored to service today, Cole said. Previously there were reports of sliced cables at Portsmouth and Circleville. The union has said no strikers are involved in acts of vandalism.

The company serves parts of 24 southern Ohio counties. About half the company's telephones are dial operated. Supervisors are handling emergency calls in the manually operated exchanges.

Appointments of department heads for the operating organization of Ohio Consolidated, making plans to merge with the General Telephone Co., have been announced by Clare E. Williams, president of both companies.
